OIL & GAS SECTOR

The gas and oil industry relies on shipping companies and third-party logistics providers to move complicated freight shipments around the world. Gas logistics usually involves shipments to remote parts of the globe, which can involve shipping heavy gas equipment and following strict safety guidelines. We as Allied Services have been able to provide such services within South Sudan, Kenya, Uganda, Rwanda, Somalia and UAE. We support our clients in the oil sector to move staff, equipment, and other necessary supplies for the sector.

HUMANITARIAN LOGISTICS

Transport plays a key role in mobilizing supplies to help emergency humanitarian assistance reach affected regions. Allied services have to this effect been able to support the humanitarian sector while partnering with both local and international NGOs within and out of South Sudan. Humanitarian logistics encompasses moving goods and equipment, relocating disaster-affected people, transferring casualties, and moving aid, relief workers, and volunteers.

In humanitarian logistics, it is important to determine the feasibility of various forms of transport on the basis of the level of urgency, total costs, and geographical characteristics of affected zones which we as Allied Services is capable of. Around two-thirds of funding in each emergency is spent on logistics, highlighting the need for effective and efficient systems.

CORPORATE SECTOR

Transportation and logistics are critical aspects of development for any country as it ensures the delivery of goods from one place to another. Our logistics process refers to the receipt, production, and distribution of goods and materials in the customer-requested amounts to their final destination.
